KILL YOUR DARLINGS is the true story of friendship, love and murder between the stars of the Beat Generation. Daniel Radcliffe portrays a young Allen Ginsberg settling in at Columbia University, establishing friendships with aspiring writers William Burroughs (Ben Foster) and Jack Kerouac (Jack Huston). He becomes fascinated by his charismatic and androgynously beautiful classmate Lucien Carr (Dane DeHaan), and is drawn into his hard-partying, jazz club frequenting circle of friends. They fuel one another's passion for poetry and breaking social conventions, but Lucien's affections are in favour of the ruggedly handsome, straight Kerouac. All the while older hanger-on David Kammerer (Michael C. Hall) who is infatuated with Lucien, writes his school papers and grows to resent Allen's new presence. When David is found dead in mysterious circumstances, an investigation is launched that names the men as potential suspects.

'OUT IN THE LINE-UP' SUPPORT THE FILM

Help fund the completion of a great new documentary exposing the taboo of homosexuality in surfing.

OUT IN THE LINE-UP is a feature documentary about two gay surfers, David and Thomas, who set off on a global journey to uncover the taboo of homosexuality in surfing. They travel from Australia to Hawaii, California, Mexico and the Galapagos Islands to speak with people from all corners of the surfing community, from former world champions through to everyday surfers. Stories of fear, isolation and self-doubt emerge alongside ones of hope, self-empowerment and transformation. As their journey unfolds, Thomas and David are inspired to promote change within the existing culture by looking to surfing's grassroots values of freedom of spirit, open-mindedness and love for the ocean.

'FAMILY' SUPPORT THE FILM

Help fund the completion of new documentary FAMILY, by queer filmmaker Marryanne Christodoulou.

Nina attempts to overcome years of denial and family cover-ups, by finally facing the sister she has been unable to forgive. The film brings the two sisters together after years of estrangement, and intimately portrays their conflicting notions of forgiveness and familial love, and their very different ways of dealing with the scars of the past. This is a very powerful film about the long term impacts of child-abuse, told with compassion and understanding.
