THE BEST OF MARDI GRAS FILM FESTIVAL AT RIVERSIDE PARRAMATTA

THE BEST OF MARDI GRAS FILM FESTIVAL

RIVERSIDE PARRAMATTA
Friday 4 to Sunday 6 APRIL

We are pleased with the initial sales of our The Best of Mardi Gras Film Festival at Riverside Parramatta, being held April 4 to 6. The five fantastic films are outlined below and you won't want to miss out on this chance to catch up on some great films that you may have missed at Mardi Gras Film Festival 2014. You can grab your tickets right now from the Queer Screen website, or via the Riverside Parramatta box office.

G.B.F.

FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 7.30PM

When Tanner is outed at his high school the queen bees fight to secure a 'Gay Best Friend.' Stars Megan Mullally (Karen in Will & Grace).

"At first, it appears that G.B.F. is going to be a gay send-up of "Mean Girls." But this cleverly scripted, crowd-pleasing teen comedy proves to be more than that." San Francisco Chronicle

BORN THIS WAY

SATURDAY, APRIL 5, 4.30PM

BORN THIS WAY is a poignant depiction of the underground gay and lesbian community in the West African country of Cameroon.

"Born this way is an enlightening and touching look at how ignorance and homophobia harm people's lives everywhere." Sound on Site

PIT STOP

SATURDAY, APRIL 5, 7.00PM

In this quiet, touching and beautifully shot film, two men nursing broken hearts eventually find each other in a small Texan town.

"This astute drama could...follow the path of something like Andrew Haigh's Britpic Weekend in breaking out of the gay fest/niche home-format ghetto to score theatrical release on merit alone." Variety

VALENTINE ROAD

SUNDAY, APRIL 6, 4.30PM

In 2008, an openly gay 15-year-old was shot and killed by his classmate after asking to be his Valentine. This powerful documentary about the tragedy was nominated for the Grand Jury Prize at Sundance.

"Haunting, heartfelt and even-handed, this should be required viewing in teaching tolerance on middle-school and high-school campuses." USA Today

WHO'S AFRAID OF VAGINA WOLF

SUNDAY, APRIL 6, 7.00PM

Anna has three goals in life; make a feature film, lose 20 pounds and get a girlfriend. At the moment, she has none out of the three. This witty and fun coming-of-middle-age film is sure to be a crowd pleaser.

"Films about moviemaking are usually really good or really bad. This one is really, really good." Filmmaker Magazine
